

Jerome V. Pisano, B.S., D.D.S., M.S.

Dr. Jerome V. Pisano received his Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from Loyola University, Chicago Illinois in 1968, his DDS from the same University in 1972 and a Masters degree in Oral Biology from Loyola in 1976.

He served as acting chief of endodontics as a U.S. Air Force Captain at McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey from 1974-1976. Dr. Pisano was a Clinical Assistant Professor at Loyola from 1976-1983 and was a Clinical Associate Professor at the same institution from 1985-1993.

Dr. Pisano is a contributing author to the 4th, 5th and 6th editions of Dr. Franklin Weine's text Endodontic Therapy.

He is an active staff Member at Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village Illinois and served as President of the American Association of Endodontics in 1997.